

CHAMORRA FORMERLY MINISTER TO THE U. S.

Newly Elected President of Nicaragua Has Had Success as Military Leader.

Gen. Emiliano Chamorro, the newly elected President of Nicaragua, formerly was minister to the United States. He was born on a farm in Chontales forty-four years ago. He studied in the college of the city of Granada, and there received the degree of A. B. After his graduation he went into business with his father at Managua, capital of the republic.

On account of the political persecution against the members of his family and of the confiscation of all his father's properties during the administration of President Zelaya, he left his country and settled in Honduras. There he bought a farm and devoted himself to agricultural pursuits.

When the opposition to President Zelaya took an aggressive form the conservatives called him back from his exile and appointed him commander of the revolutionary forces. He fought several battles, was successful and finally entered the capital with his victorious troops. He contributed to the establishment of the new administration and despite the fact that he retained his residence in Honduras, was nominated as a candidate for the presidency of Nicaragua.

Crushed Mena Revolution.

When Gen. Mena, minister of war, rebelled against President Diaz, Gen. Chamorro was again called back from abroad, and was appointed commander-in-chief of the government forces. He crushed the revolution at Managua and Managua. He restored peace to his country and his numerous partisans and friends proclaimed him again as a candidate to the presidency.

It was then that he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of his country to the United States. His diplomatic career extended over a period of three years.

Upon the approach of the new presidential term the conservative party called him back to his country and elected him to the presidency. In spite of the protests of his political opponents it is regarded as assured that his election will be recognized by the United States government.

Distribution of the $5,000,000 Nicaragua receives under the recent treaty with the United States is being arranged between the Nicaraguan government and the State Department.

Only Minor Brawls Reported.

Admiral Caperton, commanding the American warships in Nicaraguan waters, reported again today that all was quiet there, except for a large consular demonstration in Managua in honor of Gen. Chamorro, and a few minor brawls. There has been no confirmation of the reported killing of four conservatives by Salvador Zelaya, nephew of former President Zelaya, whether Costa Rica, Honduras and Salvador, who were awarded judgment by the Central American court against Nicaragua because of the treaty giving canal rights to the United States, will continue their protest to Nicaragua, or protest directly to this country again, is not known here. Gen. Chamorro is expected to stand on the refusal to recognize the competency of the court to deal with cases affecting a state outside the group which established it.

WOMAN FOUND DROWNED PROBABLY IDENTIFIED

J. E. Swartz of Chicago on Way Here, Believing Swartz Is Wife. Torn Papers Give Clue.

The body of the woman found drowned, floating in the river north of Mount Vernon, Sunday afternoon, September 24, is probably that of Mrs. Mary F. Swartz, wife of J. E. Swartz of Chicago. Mr. Swartz is now on his way to Alexandria from Chicago to identify the body.

A telegram from Charles L. Larkins, chief of detectives of Chicago, addressed to Chief Goods of Alexandria, sent late last night, and transmitted by phone from Washington reads:

"Prepare body of Mary F. Swartz. J. E. Swartz of Chicago is on the way. Expenses guaranteed."

It is expected that Mr. Swartz will arrive late tonight.

Torn Papers Give Clue.

The identification, if made, will be due principally to the Wells Fargo Express receipt marked "consigned to Mrs. J. E. Swartz," sent to her from Chicago, and which was dated September 22. This receipt, torn in pieces, was found on the river bank.

A trunk check of the Long Island Railroad Company and a coat label, bearing the name of Marshall Field, Chicago, were also found Sunday afternoon near Mount Vernon. James Young, assistant superintendent of Mount Vernon, made this find just one week after the body was recovered. All were torn into shreds, indicating that the owner evidently determined to shield her identity.

Trunk Reveals Nothing.

A trunk at the Union station in this city, bearing a duplicate of the check found torn up on the bank near where the body was found was opened yesterday afternoon in the presence of Harrie White, a justice of the peace of Fairfax county, and W. Clifton Cunningham, representing the undertaker. There was nothing in the trunk which would help to disclose the identity of the owner, although it was ascertained that it had been shipped from Huntington, L. I., to Washington.

There were three letters on the side of the trunk, almost obliterated, appearing to be "J. E. S." It is presumed that the trunk is the property of Mrs. Swartz. Huntington, L. I., authorities were requested by telegram to take up the matter and ascertain the name of the owner.

Had not these clues been found the body of the woman was to have been buried Monday afternoon in Bethel cemetery. Since the finding of the body many persons from out of the city, in search of missing persons answering the description of the woman, called at the undertaking establishment and viewed the body.

Election Conspiracy Case Near End.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., October 3.—Closing arguments were made today in the case of Greenway Hatfield and other residents of Mingo county charged with conspiracy in connection with the congressional election in 1914. Court officials said they expected the case to reach the jury by late this afternoon. The trial opened September 25.

DENY ACTUAL MONOPOLY OF ANTHRACITE TRADE

Reading and Central of New Jersey Roads File Briefs in the Government's Anti-Trust Suit.

Briefs were filed in the Supreme Court of the United States today by the Reading and Central of New Jersey railroad companies in the government's anti-trust suit, denying that they monopolize the production or transportation of anthracite coal in the Pennsylvania fields.

This case and a similar suit against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company will be argued next week. The government already has filed its briefs. Instead of having an actual or potential monopoly of the anthracite trade, as charged by the government, the railroad briefs declare that only about 20 per cent is controlled by them. Acquired in 1901 by the Reading interests of a majority of the stock of the Central of New Jersey is said not to have been in restraint of trade, as charged by the government, and the two systems are held to be complementary and non-competing.

Stock Acquisition Explained.

The purpose of this acquisition is asserted to have been "to preserve the Philadelphia and Reading railway against the threatened domination by rival and competing railroad interests." "The Reading company," says the brief, "while reasonably forwarding its own interests, has done so with no intent to wrong the general public or restrict the rights of individuals. There is no market of any importance reached by the Reading system including the Jersey Central that is not also reached by other great anthracite-carrying railroads."

Both companies ask that the government suit be dismissed.

STRONG PROTEST IS MADE OVER SEIZURE IN MEXICO

British and French Embassies Appeal to State Department Against Taking Bank Assets.

Strong protest has been made to the State Department by the British and French embassies against the action of the Carranza government in Mexico in seizing the assets of British and French banking institutions in the Mexican capital.

These banks are closed as the result of the Carranza decrees, and it is declared that the interests of British and French stockholders have been seriously affected. Because the French financial interests in the banks are much larger than the British, France has taken the lead in the protests, but the British embassy has notified the State Department that it is in full sympathy with them.

So far the State Department has given no indication of what it will do but it is believed that the protests will be transmitted first to the American members of the joint commission, now in session at Atlantic City, to be drawn to the attention of their Mexican colleagues.

Mr. Hobler, the British charge of the legation in Mexico City, is in Washington now for a conference with the embassy officials here regarding conditions in Mexico.

Women's New Suits

The Largest and Most Magnificent Showing We Have Ever Made.

Suits that have the charm of individuality and distinctiveness—that reveal every authentic mode of the season at its best. There are suits for every woman and for all occasions. PARISIAN COUTURIERS OF WORLD-WIDE FAME ARE REPRESENTED:

Bernard, Doucet, Georgette, Chanel, Lanvin, Brandt, Marshall et Armand and Callot Secours.

The Russian, Spanish and Directoire influences seem to predominate and there are so many really wonderful delineations given to the various phases that a description of their beauty would be impossible.

One fact is very strongly evidenced—and that fact is that women will be better able to choose suits for their own figure and personality than ever before.

THE VARIETY OF THE SHOWING IS BRIEFLY SUMMED UP AS FOLLOWS:

Dressy Suits for Afternoon Wear, Tailleur Suits on simple lines, Handsome Mourning Suits, smartest models in Sport Suits, and a beautiful selection of Suits for the stout figure.

Suits richly trimmed with luxurious furs are strongly featured, including such pelts as Flying Squirrel, Hudson Seal, Beaver, Mole, Skunk, Wolf and Raccoon. These Furs are used in some instances to trim and mostly to form the new cape and monk collars, and the new wing and muff cuffs. They are also used in deep bandings around the bottom of the coats, and touches here and there on pockets give a most unusual and distinctive effect.

Many Suits are without fur trimming, and these models are elegantly tailored; rows and rows of stitching on collar show care of detail, and cuffs and narrow belts are treated similarly. Other suits of a slightly more elaborate character have deep velvet collars and cuffs, or touches of hand embroidery.

Linings are more beautiful than they have ever been and form one of the points of beauty to nearly every suit—figured crepes and rich satins, with warm interlinings that amply protect the wearer.

MATERIALS IN SUITS: THE MODISH SHADES ARE:

Tile, rubber gray, heather, Burgundy, plum, stone green, African brown, Havana brown, oxford, navy and black. As you will see, they are all inconspicuous tones, with a wonderful richness and suggestion of warmth.

The prices range from $25.00 to $225.00.

Coats and Wraps Are Unusually Beautiful.

Fabrics are so soft and light in weight that it is a distinct pleasure to wear them; comfort and warmth have not been sacrificed, either. The models have been designed by the finest creators of fashions and are smart and elegant. Especially is this true of the full flaring models, with the large convertible collars of fur or self fabrics, and rich linings of fancy figured silks and peau de cygne.

An unusual variety in fabrics, comprising Bolivia Cloth, Silk Velvet, Silk Velour, Plush, Irish Frieze, Camel's-hair Velour, Cut Velour, American Bolivia, Zibelines, Whipcords, Broadcloths, Tweeds and Mixtures.

The colors are in the rich, warm tones of green, brown, taupe, tile, mouse and navy blue and black. Mixtures include various blendings of black and white, red and brown, brown and tan and green and blue.

Priced from $18.75 to $95.00.
